

Contra Costa County

PeopleSoft Training

Using Fluid pages

Sliders

Some fluid pages use sliders to select options. Classic PeopleSoft pages do not use Sliders. Sliders work like check boxes; they are used to select a binary option—e.g., yes or no; selected or not selected. Click in the slider to change the selected option.

Here are two examples of a slider. The top screenshot shows a slider that is not selected. The bottom screenshot shows a slider that has been selected.

This screenshot shows a fluid page titled "Ethnic Group". At the top left is a "Cancel" button and at the top right is a "Save" button. Below the title, there is a "Primary" label followed by a slider control. The slider is currently set to "No", which is highlighted with a red oval. Below this, there is a label "*Ethnic Group" followed by a search input field with a magnifying glass icon. A blue callout box with the word "Slider" points to the "No" option of the slider.This screenshot shows the same "Ethnic Group" fluid page, but the "Primary" slider is now set to "Yes", which is highlighted with a red oval. The "Cancel" and "Save" buttons are still present at the top. The "*Ethnic Group" search field is also visible. A blue callout box with the word "Slider" points to the "Yes" option of the slider.